

Prof Levin is a visiting professor at Nelson Mandela University and the University of the Witwatersrand. He has published on land reform, the state and public administration in South Africa and internationally. He has occupied numerous leading roles in South Africa since 1997. He is currently the Special Master: Labour Tenants and former Director General at the Department of Public Service and Administration in 2004 and again in 2018.